

OHDCC LEADERSHIP TEAM 2017-2018

*Nicole Rogers
President*

Nicole was born in Newport Beach, California, grew up in Greenwich, Connecticut, and has traveled throughout Europe at least once a year since she was 10. She graduated from the University of Maryland in three years with a B.A. in Psychology. She grew up surrounded by the theories of organizational psychology (both of her parents have been involved in the field), always knowing this was her passion! This passion has followed her through Teachers College as well as in many different internship and research opportunities. Nicole loves exploring New York City as well as traveling to the surrounding cities and can often be found in a different town or city on the weekends! Nicole is a proud resident of the Upper West Side and genuinely loves to meet new people, so if you see her walking around don't hesitate to say hello!

*Abby Johnson
Vice President*

Abby is from Illinois (closer to St. Louis than Chicago) and relocated to Oklahoma for undergrad. She worked at a luxury department store while the company was being acquired, showing her the importance of organizational psychology first hand. Abby spent a year abroad studying in England, after which she traveled to 23 countries. She now spends her free time plotting ways to continue traveling and exploring the city beyond the "Columbia Bubble."

*Anjali Agarwal
Director, Alumni Affairs*

*Gabrielle Jones
Director, Member Engagement*

Brielle Jones was born in Ohio and raised in different parts of the States including Oklahoma, Buffalo, NY and Boston, MA. Brielle holds a BS in Psychology from Northeastern University in Boston, MA, and she has worked in clinical residential based care, neurobiological research, social science research, non-profit, pharmaceutical and the finance/banking industry. After studying and conducting microenterprise & non-profit consulting for female survivalist entrepreneurs in Cape Town, South Africa, Brielle found how impactful business and organizations can be. In her spare time Brielle enjoys traveling, photography, drawing, and exploring the city.

*Aaron Kent
Director, Communication*

Aaron is from Minneapolis, Minnesota and has spent time living in Ohio, Virginia, Montana, Puerto Rico, and finally Brooklyn. He holds a BA in Psychology from Columbia University and is looking to get into executive coaching after completing his MA at Teachers College. In his spare time, you can find him banging away on the drums, brewing beer, or watching emotionally traumatic television programming on Netflix.

*Nikita Shan-Kumar
Director, Development*

*Sarah Brazaitis, Ph.D.
OHDCC Faculty Advisor*

As OHDCC's faculty advisor, Sarah has delighted in being a part of the organization's transformation over the past 12 years from a nascent group sponsoring a handful of offerings to a high performing team designing and implementing dozens of training workshops, professional panels, social gatherings, mentoring and networking events and its very first human capital case competition. OHDCC's energy, initiative, creativity, wisdom, commitment, and love of a good time make it the best team Sarah has ever advised. She is looking forward to contributing to what's next for this extraordinary organization. Understanding group and team dynamics is one of Sarah's greatest passions and she is happiest spending time with her favorite team: Buddy, Javier, Mateo and Grandma She She.
